

Declaration of agreement and disclaimer for the fire art event Ignite Flow Arts Gathering 2020

This form has to be agreed upon before purchasing a ticket. Participation is otherwise not possible

Disclaimer

1. The area is used at participant's own risk. Every participant is responsible for his or her own actions or possible damage according to civil and penal law in the absence of any relevant disclaimer. Upon agreeing the participant forgoes any claim against.
  - The Ignite Flow Arts Gathering organizer: Manuel Maes
  - Hosts, trainers, tenant and owner, agencies or any other person associated with the organization of the event.

The participant also forgoes any claims for any other damages resulting from negligent or deliberate actions by any other participants or the assistants as well as owners of dangerous equipment excluding damages to life and health resulting from negligent or deliberate actions by these persons.

2. We assume no liability in the case of theft. This also applies to any companion.
3. In signing up for this event by Ignite Flow Arts Community all participants agree that all personal data, photographs, shoots, or interviews that are associated with this event may be used for broadcasting, communicating, advertisement, and copying without any demands for compensation.
4. All participants are required to act in a way that will not endanger or harass other people.
5. Using the fire space with acoustic devices such as headphones is strictly forbidden.
6. Dogs, strong liquor and drugs are not allowed.
7. It is forbidden to explore the terrain outside of the Ignite venue during night hours.
8. In the event of nonattendance or the canceling of activities due to weather conditions or any other act of nature beyond the organizer's control there will be no refund for tickets.

The disclaimer comes into effect upon accepting the checkbox at ticket purchase.